

Stolen and Otherwise

John C. New says that Beveridge wouldn't run for vice-president. Not any he would drag.

Secretary McCanna is getting everything ready for the big territorial fair next October.

The most recent crop review of the United States weather bureau shows that the wheat crop has suffered less than was supposed from the climatic conditions. Speaking in a general way the American farmer is going to have plenty of grain to sell this year, and is going to get big prices for it.

A New Brunswick clergyman says there are no female angles, and the Phoenix, (Arizona) Democrat very forcibly reminds him that they are found in every household and beside every sick bed in Arizona. And we beg to remind him that they are also to be found in other states. God bless 'em!

Yesterday the papers were drawn up and signed transferring the Hustler printing plant to Robert C. Prewitt. Mr. Seller will retain possession until July 1st. The consideration was $1,000. Mr. Prewitt has had experience in the newspaper field and we gladly welcome him again to the fraternity. — Farmington Times.

The editor of the Carlsbad Argus has grasped the leading characteristic of the country village. "We prefer," he says, "to live in a small town where all the people sympathize with you in trouble, and if you haven't any trouble, will hunt up some for you." — Albuquerque Citizen.

Country people who live within their income, rear children and keep busy rarely seek divorces. Townspeople who worry about social matters, live in lodging houses, have no home life, or who do not know contentment, are prone to wear upon each other's nerves and divorces ensue, even if infidelity does not result from associations.

If nations can settle their differences with honor to one another without a resort to violence, it ought to be possible for employers and employees to reach satisfactory agreement by peaceable means, by arbitrations when neither party to the dispute can be moved by the arguments of the other.

The government is planting trees on the sand hills in western Nebraska. Both pine and cedar are being used in the experiment. The sand hills of western Nebraska have a moist subsoil only a few feet under the surface and it is thought those varieties of trees will penetrate to the moisture and thrive in that region.

The east cannot understand why President Roosevelt, Knickerbocker bred, New York born, and educated in New England, finds the peace, the life and the institutions of the west so much more to his liking and delight than those of the east. It's the man himself. Roosevelt is more intensely American. So is the west. Eastern society and associations have so long aped those of Europe that they have lost the ebullient spirit of the original American and his faith in his destiny as the sure survival of the fittest. — Wichita Eagle.

Be very careful of the man who knocks a mining promoter. Be very careful of the man who knocks the other fellows game and recommends one of his own. Every community, and not only mining communities, is infested with knockers, usually in the form of mossbacks, stumbling blocks to progress. Remember that the knocker's opinion is only one man's opinion, and he is most likely to be wrong. See if there is not some reason for the "knock." Investigate your informant.

Early in life the child shows a disposition to have a little domain of its own some little nook or corner where the boy can have a box containing his play things and other small trinkets, the girl wants a little trunk in which she can keep her doll clothes and the like. An exchange remarks that if this disposition is cultivated, a little later in life they will probably enjoy tending a small patch of ground, raising some small fruit, popcorn or something else, getting the proceeds. This same principle continued to manhood and womanhood, a disposition is apt to be developed to cause the person to own and occupy a home of his own, and will if possible save part of his earnings to that end. Childhood is the time to begin to cultivate these faculties and habits of home love, generosity and everything that goes to make the useful happy citizen.

From Governor Hunt's glowing account Porto Rico must be growing into the most prosperous bit of territory under the Stars and Stripes. There is every reason why she should prosper. As the only piece of real tropics with in our customs lines she has a natural first mortgage on the banana and coffee business; besides which she is wonderfully fertile and is filling up with American enterprise. Florida's nose is a trifle out of joint at the report that San Juan is to have Flagler hotels and go in for the winter tourist traffic in real earnest.

A Wet Desert.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 23.—It is reported that the Colorado river is now higher than for years. It is more than two miles wide at Needles and steamers are now landing freight at Roger's ranch, two miles inland. Ranches and ranch houses along the the Mojave bottoms are under water and it is thought that heavy property losses will follow.

Water at Albuquerque.

Albuquerque has had a narrow escape from damage, and, in fact, didn't escape entirely unscathed. The water flooded a portion of the Barelas end of the city and flowed over the Hunning meadows. But strenuous and long-continued effort was necessary to keep the flood from invading the city. At North Fourth street, where the menace was greatest, a strong levee of sand bags was raised and a new channel was cut to permit the water to make its way back to the Rio Grande. For a time all business in the city was suspended and everybody who could wield a shovel went to the city or Alameda levees. Men worked day and night, and the ladies of the city cooked lunches and took them out to their husbands and brothers. With all that was done, had the Alameda dyke given way again, while effort was being concentrated at the city, the situation would have been most serious.

The chief of police states that he visited the cut-off at 10 o'clock last night and at that hour the river was up to the highest point reached during the present rise.

A force of men was placed near the headgate to strengthen the embankment during the night, with 1,000 sacks of sand, and due diligence was exerted to protect each weak place.

Below the city, at the headgates, the levee was also carefully guarded, and the night passed without mishap or cause for alarm.

The river at 3 o'clock was reported to have fallen two inches at the Stanton street bridge from the measurement of day before yesterday.

The Doctrine of Good Living.

Who doubts it? Certainly not the man on the train. He needs and should demand food that is properly cooked and daintily served. The Santa Fe provides the best of meals for those who journey. Its table d'hote service, 75 cents, is deservedly popular. Trains without dining cars reach meal stations at seasonable hours.
